Period for Reply -- The MAILING DATE of this communication appears on the cover sheet with the correspondence address --

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Status

- 1) ☒ Responsive to communication(s) filed on 17 July 2006 (Preliminary Amendment).
- 2a) ☐ This action is FINAL. 2b) ☒ This action is non-final.

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

1. Claims 1 and 4 are objected to because of the following informalities:

Claim 1, line 1, "the steering column" should be replaced with "a steering column".

Claim 4, line 3, "component" should be replaced with "components".

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Lutz, US Patent 6,095,012.

In regards to claims 1-5, Lutz discloses all of the claimed elements including a clamping device for a steering column of a motor vehicle, said device comprising:

first (12) and second (3) jaw-shaped components running vertically parallel to one another, between which a casing tube (6) of the steering column extends and which have two opposing through-openings; and a clamping bolt (10), which passes through the through-openings and interacts by tensioning with a counter-element (21) in order to apply the clamping force, the bolt head (near 22) being arranged on sides of the exterior of the first jaw-shaped component and the counter-element on sides of the exterior of the second jaw-shaped component;

wherein one jaw-shaped component (12) is of elastically flexible design, at least in the thickness direction, and the other jaw-shaped component (3) is of flexurally rigid design, at least in the thickness direction (Reference is made to Figures 1-3 and 8);

wherein the two components (3, 12) are fitted to the body of the vehicle;

wherein the two component are arranged on a mounting bracket (1), which is firmly fixed to the vehicle;

wherein at least one transversely flexible shim (11,17), which is fixed to the steering column casing tube, is arranged on the clamping bolt (10) next to an exterior of at least one of the components (3).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

6. Claim 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Lutz in view of Sato et al., US Patent 6,237,954.

In regards to claim 2, Lutz discloses all of the claimed elements including the flexurally rigid component (3) being designed with a correspondingly large wall thickness and the elastically flexible component (12) with a correspondingly small wall thickness. Yet excluding the two components (3, 12) being made from the same material, as only component 12 is disclosed 12 as being made of metal and the material of component 3 is undisclosed.

Sato et al. discloses a U-shaped bracket rigidly attached to a vehicle and discloses the bracket as being metal.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to make the component 3 of Lutz out of metal as it is a readily available material that can be easily attached through welding to a vehicle cross member.

Conclusion

7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
